

EPTAM Precision and Ingram Machining Combine to Better Serve Customer Needs at All Stages of the Product Lifecycle

February 28th, 2022 (Northfield, NH) – EPTAM Precision Solutions (“EPTAM” or the “Company”), a Frazier Healthcare Partners (“Frazier”) portfolio company, is pleased to announce the acquisition of Ingram Machining (“Ingram”). Ingram is a development and short-run machining operation, specializing in components and finished devices for medical, robotics and other high-tech industries. Ingram operates out of Broomfield, CO where they offer their clients CNC Machining, Wire EDM, Laser Engraving, and world-class Metrology along with numerous Finishing and Secondary Process capabilities. The transaction allows the companies to combine complementary capabilities, enabling both customer bases to benefit from the appropriate level of support and manufacturing scale at any stage of a product’s life cycle. Ingram Machining will be re-branded to “EPTAM Rapid Launch Center”.

Founded in 1981, EPTAM is an outsourced manufacturer of Medical Device, Minimally Invasive Surgical solutions, BioPharma equipment components, Single-Use Medical Disposables and high-precision components for Diversified Industrial customers. The Company has expertise in polymer machining, precision metal component machining & micro-machining, laser cutting & welding and plastic injection molding, and offers a range of value-added services such as process validation, design-for-assembly, cleanroom assembly, and technical program management solutions. EPTAM has over 600 employees with operations in New Hampshire, Colorado, Minnesota, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

EPTAM’s CEO, Mark Kemp said, “By welcoming the professionals from Ingram Machining to our family, EPTAM adds a highly-experienced team dedicated to providing our collective customers with rapid development and short-run production solutions requiring highly complex, tight tolerance, CNC machining requirements.”

Mark Ingram, President of Ingram, said, “We are excited to partner with EPTAM to increase our reach and enhance the capabilities and services we offer to our customers. We will continue to provide exceptional quality and service to our customers with the added benefit of leveraging EPTAM’s capabilities, footprint, industry expertise, and customer relationships.”
